My friend Karen and I always stay together. Karen is only a few months older than me. I think she is very beautiful. She has long hair and blue eyes. I love Karen so much, because she is such a nice friend. I can share my secrets with her and I am never afraid that she will tell my secrets to others. But I am not such a good friend. I sometimes get angry easily.

One day, when we were in Grade 4, Karen was going to another friend's home and asked me to go along with her. But I didn't want to go to that friend's home that day. I also didn't want her to go. Instead, I wanted to go boating with her. However, Karen said she must go to that friend's home. She said she didn't want to break her words. I became angry and ran away.

Later that day, I received a call from Karen's mother. She told me that Karen had a car accident that day and was in hospital. I immediately ran to the hospital to see if she was OK.

Luckily, Karen wasn't seriously hurt. That day, I was afraid that I would lose Karen forever. At that time, I knew how important she was in my life. I decided never to be angry with her again.

Most people want to be happy, but few know how to find happiness. Money and success alone do not bring lasting happiness. Aristotle, a Greek thinker, said, "Happiness depends upon ourselves." In other words, we make our own happiness. Here are a few suggestions to help you be happier.

The first secret of happiness is to enjoy the simple things in life. Too often, we spend so much time thinking about the future—for example, getting into college or getting a good job—that we fail to enjoy the present. You should enjoy life's simple pleasures, such as reading a good book, listening to your favorite music, or spending time with close friends. People who have several close friends often live happier and healthier lives.

Another secret to living a happy life is to be active, and have hobbies where you forget your problems and time. Many people experience this dancing, or playing a sport, such as swimming. You can forget about your problems, and only think about the activity. Finally, many people find happiness in helping others. Studies show that people feel good when they spend their time helping others. If you want to feel happier, do good things for someone. You can help a friend with his or her studies, go shopping to buy food for an elderly person, or simply help out around the house by washing the dishes.

- () 36. The best title of the passage is _____.
A. Money Makes You Happy B. The Secrets of Happiness
C. Ideas for Helping Other People to Be Happy D. Good Friends Make You Happy
- () 37. The second paragraph tells us that _____.

- A. the more friends you have, the happier you will be
 - B. we shouldn' t think about our future
 - C. happiness is to enjoy the simple things in life.
 - D. some people fail to live a happy life
- () 38. The passage gives us _____ pieces of advice on happiness.
- A. one B. two C. three D. four
- () 39. The writer thinks that _____.
- A. everyone knows how to live a happier life
 - B. it' s wrong to spend time on work
 - C. hobbies take up too much time
 - D. doing good things for someone can make you happier
- () 40. Which of the following is not mentioned in the passage?
- A. Reading a good book.
 - B. Traveling to a foreign country.
 - C. Playing a sport.
 - D. Spending time with close friends.

D

It' s back to school time for kids in New Jersey, but it' s not back to bullying time. There is a new anti-bullying law in New Jersey starting this school year.

New Jersey' s law says bullying is not allowed for any reason. All public school workers, from teachers to headmasters, must be trained in how to prevent bullying. Schools must report any bullying at once, and they will be graded on how well they deal with the problem. New Jersey is one of 47 states with anti-bullying laws for schools. Only Michigan, Montana and South Dakota do not have such a law.

There are many kinds of bullying. It may include laughing at others, calling others names and leaving someone out. It can also be physical. The behavior happens over and over again, and can take place anywhere, from the playground to the Internet. It' s reported that nearly half of all kids will experience bullying in school, and at least 10 percent are bullied regularly.

Each year in October, many people begin to pay attention to bullying and try to do something to stop it. Many schools hold anti-bullying programs.

Will stronger anti-bullying laws change the behavior forever? Ken Trump, president of the National School Safety and Security Services, says no. "State anti-bullying laws do not provide more money, or other support," he said. Some people note that they had strict anti-bullying policies in place long before the law passed. "The law will not change what we do, because we already take this matter very seriously," explains Bruce Winkelstein, the headmaster of Brookside School in New Jersey.

You can do your part by treating others kindly and speaking out against bullying. Kids will make the biggest difference of all.

41. What' s the main purpose of this passage?
- A. To introduce the ways to stop school bullying.
 - B. To talk about the influence of school bullying.
 - C. To ask people to work together against school bullying.
 - D. To explain the danger of school bullying
42. How many states don' t have the anti-bullying laws for school?
- A. 47. B. 50. C. 10. D. 3.

43. Which of the following behaviors is not bullying?
- A. A student laughs at another one online.
B. A student hits another one without any reason.
C. A student asks others not to play with one student.
D. A student plays games with another student.
